

When maintenance issues arise in our dorm, there is confusion about who to contact or how to report the problem, leading to delays in getting things fixed and increased frustration among residents.